Early Human Life

At 11-12 weeks the unborn child is already more than two inches long. His heart has been beating since 25 days. Brain waves can be read since 43 days. All body organs are present and working.

This rapidly developing child is becoming extremely sensitive to sound, pressure, heat, light and pain. All that is needed now is nourishment and time to grow.

All the above information is documented by scientific research.
